LIFE IN MAMMOTH: IT’S IN TENTS

Town approves revised Sprung Structure proposal for MUF

Mammoth Lakes Town Council voted by a 3-2 margin to move forward with plans for a revised Multi-Use Facility project at Mammoth Creek Park.

The new MUF will be made of a “Tensile Fabric Structure,” according to Town Engineer-Manager Haislip Hayes. Translation: It’s a tent, just like Eagle Lodge.

Which may not appeal to the architectural snobs who were pushing for an iconic building which matches the grandeur of our natural surroundings, but... the price is right.

And unlike Eagle Lodge, Hayes said there are design and color options which will help mitigate the, well, blandness.

As Hayes said, his mandate was to bring a project in for $13 million or less, and this one provides all the goodies (four locker rooms, bleachers, lobby, storage, concessions, et al.) and keeps the Town on this side of that line in the sand.

Some contemplated extras (like building out a 6,000-square foot mezzanine for community space, 100 extra parking spaces) are not included in the $13 million plan but can be added as desired.

A basic rink and roof alternative, open on two sides and with no extras, was priced at about $15 million.

Steel’s expensive. Blame the tariff game.

The new structure, which boasts a 65-year life span, will require environmental review, because height and setbacks require environmental review, and with no extras, was priced at about $15 million.

The most interesting aspect of Wednesday’s Council meeting was in how many of the faces have changed. There were a whole new set of parents and children advocating for an ice rink, as former advocates care far less, their children having largely aged-out of the prime use years.

Parent Paul Geffry, speaking on behalf of the rink, noted that this was a community conversation that had been going on for 6-7 years.

He later acknowledged that he had been guessing. He knew it had been going on a long time, and figured 6-7 years sounded like a long time without getting into wild exaggeration.

“The Sheet’s been in business 16 years and this has been an issue since day one.”

There were no dissenting voices in Wednesday’s audience. Hockey grandparent Dale Gilbert said simply, “There’s not a major ski area that doesn’t have one [a rink].”

Citizen Sandy Hogan was the closest to voicing opposition, but didn’t come out against the project - at least directly. She did say she was worried that pursuing such a project would distract the town from its #1 priority - housing.

Council, as evidenced by the vote, was divided.

ALL OVER THIS LAND ...

You can’t portray yourself as an agent of change if you’re serving up the same old goulash.

At Wednesday’s Mammoth Lakes Tourism Board meeting, Chair Scott McGuire, in defending why the deadline to apply for a vacant board position had been extended, cast part of the blame on the local news media, saying The Sheet and Mammoth Times had failed to publish MLT’s vacancy notice.

Except such a notice had never been sent to us, and I doubt the Times received one either. When we receive such notices, we publish them. Why? Because we charge for such notices, and we’re pretty reliable when it comes to placing paid submissions.

Every other governmental or quasi-governmental agency in the Eastern Sierra posts board vacancies in this manner.

Not MLT. It apparently sent out a press release soliciting interest. I never saw the press release, and have no idea whether or not the Times did.

Anyway, it didn’t get published. And it wasn’t like anyone followed up with me from MLT saying, “Geez, how do I get this information into the paper? This is important.”

Nevertheless, MLT ended up with one applicant, Matt Hammer, for the open retail board position.

Apparently, that wasn’t good enough for Mr. McGuire, who decided to extend the application deadline and personally lobbied other candidates to apply. At one point, he asked me if I had any ideas for suitable candidates. His rationale was something to the effect of, “We need to get as many candidates as possible interested in the job. We don’t want to settle. We want the best person available.”

I view it a little differently. If you have a decent candidate who has enough initiative and follow-through to submit an application, that’s a far better choice than someone who needs to be cajoled into it. And if Mr. Hammer is smart enough to run a couple of businesses, he’s probably smart enough to serve on the MLT Board.

Further, what this describes to me is a broken, two-part process. Part one: On the down-low, advertise a position (but not too well) and hope that the right person applies. That right person being someone you’re comfortable with, and someone who either thinks like you or someone you think you might be able to dominate or win over. If that happens, process complete.

If you end up with a wild card like Hammer whom you don’t really know, then proceed to part two and recruit a “better fit” because you’ve already established that rules and deadlines are meaningless.

Sadly, there is recent precedence for application deadline extensions.

Mammoth’s Town Council recently extended a deadline for its Planning and Economic Development Commission. Jessica Kennedy was then recruited and selected over Rhonda Duggan and Dawn Vereuck, who had submitted applications on-time.

A final thought regarding Mr. McGuire. This is the same guy who excori- ated fellow MLT Board member Brent Truax for perceived ethical conflicts, ultimately running him off the MLT Board’s Executive Committee (because he couldn’t figure out how to run him off the MLT Board altogether).

The “court-packing” strategy didn’t represent FDR’s finest moment back in 1937. And I don’t see this as Mr. McGuire’s finest moment, either.

Speaking of MLT, the organization will pretty much carry the same $10 million budget into 2019-2020.

“If operate under the assumption that whatever “joint tourism reserves” ac- cumulate will be spent.

A discussion of a potential recalibration of Measure A dollars (which are divided between housing, transit and marketing) yielded ... no discussion.

Mayor Pro-Tem Bill Sauser says he is “completely comfortable” with leav- ing the allocations as is.

Councilmembers Salcido and Wentworth also say they are both fine for now.

Mammoth Lakes resident Sandy Hogan said she is worried about seeing money funnel back to the town versus out to the non-governmental organi- zations, particularly Mammoth Lakes Housing (MLH).

“The public said create these organizations and let them operate.” She characterized MLH as crippled.

“If you don’t trust them [MLH],” chimed in Mammoth Lakes resident Tom Cage, “why give them anything? Don’t hobble the organizations,” he added.

“If you are, then bring them back in-house.”

Festival Director Shira Dubrovner says that the 5th annual Mammoth Lakes Film Festival sold approximately 3,100 total tickets to various events, a 10% increase over 2018.

“We also had more industry presence at the festival this year,” she said, “with distribution company A24, press like Variety and the Hollywood Reporter and more.

Finally, Lynn Boulton of the Sierra Club’s Range of Light chapter forward- ed me (Thursday morning) a copy of Premium Energy’s project application in response to FERC’s (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission) denial of its initial Pumped Storage project proposal for Swall Meadows which we reported on in our April 27 issue.

Says Boulton, “The upper reservoir is now in Wyman Canyon and the alternative is in Birch Creek drainage—both on the east side of the White Mountains.”

What the shell?

Dear Editor,

Every week we read about MLT’s excessive and expensive spending on marketing. I don’t disagree that MLT’s money could be better spent, there needs to be a focus on housing and infrastructure before encouraging more visitors. Last week we heard again about county wages, we commonly hear about what the town is spending money on where Measure R funds are being allocated etc. But why is there no coverage on the Water District spending?

After reading Robert Thompson’s letter to The Sheet a couple weeks ago, I wanted to share a picture of a Water District vehicle. This picture is from 4 or so years ago when I stopped by the District to get info on the rebate program.

This is not an appropriate vessel for water sampling. Here is a link to the General Manager’s contract https://mcwd.dst.ca.us/assets/mcwd-december-2017-board-agenda-and-packet.pdf His contract explicitly states: “The District will provide the General Manager with a District vehicle for commuting between work and his Mammoth Lakes area home, and for District business purposes only.” Laid out simply, not for moving his rowboat around. Not long ago, I saw the General Manager taking skis out of his Water District vehicle with a woman I presume to be his wife.

I am offended by this use of public money. I had let it go years ago, but I continue to see his new ‘fully loaded’ vehicle all around town. A quick look at the Water District budget shows they spend a lot of money, they are well funded by property taxes and receive additional revenue from rates for service. Water is important, but the expenditures seem reckless: Is the new fully loaded vehicle necessary for me to receive clean water? How is the sunroof on his vehicle ensuring my house has water delivered?

The General Manager is being paid over $200,000 per year with a healthy benefit package. Maybe the Board could justify this salary if he had been there long term or was doing an amazing job, but as far as I’ve read, he is not. He wasted an UNBELIEVABLE amount of money trying to ‘beat’ ORMAT. Not only did he not get what he was fighting for, he burned bridges along the way. One town council member I spoke to about this a couple years back called his behavior aggressive, inappropriate, and offensive. When you are being paid $200,000 for a cushy job, at the very least, you should be well received in the community.

I bought my house in Mammoth Lakes in 1994 and have been enjoying the water service since. However, if the District has more money than they know what to do with, maybe some money needs to be reallocated for spending on things the town needs (just like your argument against MLT). I would much rather see the Water District employees actually doing the work receive better pay than unnecessary spending at the top.

INYO HOMELESS COUNT UP

By James

Inyo-Mono Advocates for Community Action Housing and Planning Director Larry Emerson addressed Inyo County Supervisors about the state of the homeless issue in Inyo.

The "Point-in-Time Count" from January 24-25 yielded the following numbers:

214 people experiencing homelessness on the night of the 24th, and increase of 36 over 2018.

Most of the individuals counted were living in tents, vehicles, camping, etc. 8% were in emergency shelter or transitional housing.

7% were under the age of 18.

The Point-in-Time count is conducted by volunteers and by no means comprehensive. Actual numbers of homeless are largely unknown and getting an accurate count is difficult. Many homeless never seek help from local government social services or by non-profits, with the result that they are never counted.

MLT has been working on several approaches, including a street outreach program, transitional housing, and even a "safe parking lot" for homeless people living out of their cars, campers and motorhomes. IMACA also has a rental subsidy program in the works. Yet, even with everything being done, the lack of private land and a severe housing shortage in Inyo County threaten to undercut efforts.

"The county is taking a multi-prong approach using several ideas and funding sources to address it," says Meaghan McCamman, Assistant Director for Inyo County Department of Health and Human Services.

McCamman says HHS received $75,000 to develop plans for affordable housing for those with mental health issues and another $100,000 for treatment of the homeless suffering mentally illness. McCallum also said that the county is receiving a $500,000 under the state’s “No Place Like Home” Program which provides funds to acquire, design, construct, rehabilitate, or preserve permanent supportive hous-

McCallum also said that the county is receiving a $500,000 under the state’s “No Place Like Home” Program which provides funds to acquire, design, construct, rehabilitate, or preserve permanent supportive housing for persons who are experiencing homelessness, chronic homelessness or who are at risk of chronic homelessness, and those in need of mental health services.

Inyo County Supervisors learned that the number of homeless in Inyo, Mono and Alpine counties as well as statewide has increased despite the state committing billions of dollars to address the issue.

Last year, the City of Los Angeles spent $619 million on housing and services.

Those at Tuesday’s meeting acknowledged that one serious obstacle in solving the homelessness and housing shortage through legislation and regulation is partly because solutions almost always involve more population density and threaten the status quo for those who live comfortably in single-family homes.

Less than 2-percent of Inyo County is privately-owned land. Of that percentage, Los Angeles owns about 251,958 acres, or about 89%, of the private land in Inyo County. The City of Bishop is land-locked with almost no land available for development of additional housing.

At the end of the meeting, Second District Supervisor Jeff Griffiths summed up the situation in saying that, “I think for a long time we put our heads in the sand and pretended the issue doesn’t exist. And we’ve got to the point now where we can’t do that anymore.”
"LONESOME" IN MAMMOTH

Press Release

Mammoth Lakes, CA - Mammoth Lakes Repertory Theatre’s (MLRT) Artistic Director Shira Dubrower is thrilled to announce that Jason Petty is bringing his one-man Hank Williams show to the Eastern Sierra for two nights only, June 21st and 22nd at the Edison Theatre. Jason Petty brings Hank Williams’ music and story alive in Hanks Tales: The Lonesome Tour with insights told through stories and music. This is the way Hank Williams music was meant to be heard.

“It’s exciting to have someone of Jason’s talent and credits hear about our theatre and propose presenting his show on our stage,” stated Dubrower. Petty plays acoustic guitar and, within the intimate set, tells the story of one of Country Music’s greatest legends with wit, wisdom and reflective humor. All of the legendary songs are included such as “Jambalaya”, “Your Cheatin’ Heart”, “Hey Good Lookin’”, “Move It On Over”, “I Saw The Light” and many more.

JASON PETTY, Hank Williams, is an accomplished musician, actor and artist. A native of Tennessee town of Manchester, he began playing in bands such as ‘Bud’ and many more. His first introduction onto that hallowed stage was at Opryland in Nashville. Jason did and did the rest, they say, is history.

While at Opryland, Jason was asked to perform on the Grand Ole Opy and was first introduced onto that hallowed stage by the King of Country Music, Roy Acuff. Jason then starred in a national tour and a few regional theatre productions of ‘Lost Highway’ and the show went to New York City in 2002, it began a 6-week run Off Broadway. The reviews were off the charts and the run was extended for another 7 months. Jason won the coveted Obie Award for his portrayal of Hank.

After completing seven (7) straight years of touring with ‘Lost Highway’, Jason decided to write his own show about the legendary performer based upon all the people he met and befriended who knew Hank and shared their stories with Jason.

Hey, good lookin’, join us June 21 and 22 at the Edison Theatre for Hank Williams: The Lonesome Tour and feel as if you’ve traveled back in time to meet Hank Williams himself.

retail board seat at the end of this month. His replacement must possess a retail business license in Mammoth Lakes, and three candidates applied for the seat. Patricia Andrews of Red Lily and Matt Hammer of Shelter Distilling and Black Velvet Coffee were the two candidates seriously considered.

The third, Anita Westfall of Outdoor 365, was not able to schedule an interview before the deadline.

Matt Hammer was eventually recommended by the nominating committee and voted into the seat by the board. John Morris, a member of the nominating committee, said that there was only a subtle difference between the two candidates.

“What connected best was Matt’s vision of the future of the town,” Morris said. “His vision will help push this board in the right direction.”

Board member Michael Ledesma was concerned that for both of these candidates, retail only makes up a small proportion of their businesses. Red Lily makes most of its revenue from providing floral arrangements for events, and Hammer said that retail makes up about 20% of Shelter and Black Velvet’s combined business.

Board Chair Scott McGuire attempted to alleviate Ledesma’s concern by saying that Sean Turner’s business, Mammoth Brewing Company, similarly makes a minority of its revenue from retail, and so his replacement will not deviate much from the status quo.

The fiscal year 2019-2020 budget was approved by the board with one controversy. McGuire gave a speech calling for the board to buckle down on creating a vision for the future.

“I don’t think we’ve delivered a strategic plan to the community, and I think approving a budget of several million dollars is in alignment with the mission statement that buy advertising on our behalf”.

Mammoth Mountain’s representative on the MLT board, Eric Clark, disagreed with McGuire’s point that MLT lacked a strategic vision.

“Are you changing the strategy of $20 million in (Transient Occupancy Tax) revenue that we’ve all agreed to?” Clark asked.

“That’s not a strategy, that’s a goal,” McGuire said.

“That is a strategy,” Clark argued. “I think it’s not a marketing plan, or a strategic plan, that the consultants present to us… it’s a vision that the consultants buy advertising on our behalf.”

Mammoth Mountain’s representative on the MLT board, Eric Clark, disagreed with McGuire’s point that MLT lacked a strategic vision.

“I think we’ve looked at a lot of marketing plans,” McGuire said. “When I read our bylaws, we should be more than just a marketing organization for the town … I don’t think I’ve heard a very clear, ‘this is the vision for the organization for the next five years holistically.’”

“I think we’ve been drilling into the how without actually saying why,” the board decided that it would not agree on the issue of strategic vision during the course of this meeting, and approved the budget.

“On a tourism related note, May enplanement numbers for commercial air service were released this week. Enplanements for 2019 (through May) are 10,408, down 31% from the same time period last year. Approximately two-thirds of Mammoth Yosemite’s annual enplanements occur in the first five months of the year. Mammoth is on track for its worst year, in terms of enplanements, since air service was reinstated back in 2009.

However, on a positive note, The County of Inyo and Town of Mammoth Lakes were recognized this week with the Federal Aviation Administration’s Herman C. Bliss Airports Partnership Award.

The Herman C. Bliss Airports Partnership Award, created in 2005 to recognize the service of long-time FAA Western Region Airport Division Manager Mr. Herman C. Bliss, is awarded to an airport, a consultant, a state or local government employee, or organization that has provided unparalleled leadership.

Inyo County and Mammoth Lakes received the award “in recognition of the important partnership developed between these organizations to cooperatively develop their respective airports and to develop a regional solution to the aviation needs of California’s Eastern Sierra Region.”

Lis and Kevin Mazzu were honored at the "Concert in the Rocks" in the Lone Pine Alabama Hills last Saturday evening in recognition for all the support they provided to local schools and civic groups in the 14 years they have owned the McDonald's Restaurant franchise in Inyo and Mono Counties.

The couple took over the franchise in 2004. Now they are letting go, having sold their local interests so they can move with their three daughters to San Antonio, Texas, where they purchased five McDonald’s restaurants.

Kevin was originally from Minnesota. He had a 20-year career with McDonald's Corporation, working as the Marketing Officer for McDonald's West Division, managing marketing and public relations for 4,000 restaurants and 30 advertising co-ops with an annual budget of $400 million.

Upon leaving that job, he and his wife, Lis, moved to the Eastern Sierra after purchasing the three area McDonald's, Lone Pine, Bishop & Mammoth Lakes.

Both Kevin and Lis were very involved as board members with the Round Valley School STEP Foundation for years, and they also supported all the local public schools from Mammoth Lakes to Lone Pine by hosting fundraising McTeachers Nights. They supported and hosted the annual "Coffee with a Cop" in Bishop and Lone Pine to promote better relations and understanding with the communities that local law enforcement officers serve. And in partnership with Healthier Communities of Southern Inyo County, the couple provided hundreds of "Breakfast with Moms and Dads" at schools in Big Pine, Independence and Lone Pine for many years.

Lis also served on the board of Healthy Communities.

Both Lis and Kevin have been recognized many times for their leadership and commitment to the Eastern Sierra. They were honored as Inyo County’s "Citizens of the Year" in 2008; Bishop City Council’s "Citizen Award" in 2010; Central California Better Business Bureau "Ethics Award" in 2011 and California District 18 "Small Business of the Year" in 2012. They were also honored by the Inyo County Superintendent of Schools with the "Community Star Award" in 2013 for their educational involvement and support.

Lis received an honor from Congressman Paul Cook in 2015 "Salute to Women: Young Leaders and Mentors" as a Mentor for the excellent work she did on behalf of youth in the community. She was a past board member of the Bishop Union High School Foundation for Excellence. Lis also participated on the Inyo County Childhood Obesity Taskforce, where she worked to promote healthy lifestyles and balanced eating for local youth. She served as a member of the Board for the Bishop Stingrays Swim Team, and for nine years helped underwrite "Kids Day" at the Tri-County fair so that thousands of children under the age of 12 could be admitted for free.

As if all the other things already mentioned wouldn’t be enough to realize the contributions the Mazzus made to the area, they also helped sponsor most of the key area events such as Mule Days, the Tri-County Fair, Alabama Hills Day and the Lone Pine Film Festival.

One area of special interest, pride, and accomplishment to Kevin Mazzu that must be mentioned was his long-standing commitment on the board of the Alabama Hills Stewardship Group, which was founded in November 2006. Thirteen years later, on March 12, the Alabama Hills, located just west of Lone Pine, was designated a National Scenic Area signing ceremony at the White House by President Donald Trump.

The Mazzus received a tremendous ovation and wishes for success from the many concertgoers in the Alabama Hills.

It is easy for you to pick up some good advice each year. After all, commencement addresses and overpriced greeting cards are full of useful lines like, “Congratulations on finally wearing a tassel on something other than your nipples.” Or, better yet, they offer up something useful like this line from Alfred Mercier, “What we learn with pleasure we never forget.” Cancer: This would be a good time for Cancerians to learn something new. The challenge and excitement of learning will boost your sense of confidence and happiness. It will also help you understand that Benjamin Franklin was right: “An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest.” Sarah Brown, “The only thing that ever wears out or challenged these lines from C. S. Lewis, “There are far, far other busy June. If you’re feeling a little worn out or challenged these lines from commencement addresses should help. From C. S. Lewis, "There are far, far better things ahead than any we leave behind." And from Ed Helms, “So long as your desire to explore is greater than your desire to not screw up, you’re on the right track.” Virgo: The end of the school year doesn’t mean our education stops. In fact, for many folks summer is when we learn the most about life. So make the most out of this summer by being open to new experiences and by reading a lot. Reading Clouds is a good start. So is remembering this line from B.B. King, “The beautiful thing about learning is that no one can take it away from you.” Libra: This is the perfect time for Libras to make some large changes in life. These changes aren’t necessarily just for the outside. The most important changes should be to your outlook and attitude towards others. That’s why these are your end of the school year quotes: From Helen Keller, “The highest result of education is tolerance.” And from Will Rogers, “Even if you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there.” Scorpio: Clouds is asking the good and horny people of this sign to embrace this time of change and evolution. It will help if you can simply try to enjoy more moments and use these lines at any graduation parties. By John Dewey, “Education is not preparation for life; education is life itself.” By Ralph Waldo Emerson “Make the most of yourself, for that is all there is of you.” Sagittarius: A recent swarm of ladybugs in Southern California was so large it showed up on the National Weather Service’s radar. That’s why your new mission is to think about this swarm every time you’re feeling stressed or sad. It will also help to remember these lines as well. Courtesy of Albert Einstein, “Your imagination is your preview of life’s coming attractions.” And from Sarah Brown, “The only thing that ever sat its way to success was a hen.” Capricorn: Studies have shown that laughter is good for everything from mental health to sexual connections. That’s why your end of the school year advice comes from two comedians. 1) Jim Carrey, “I learned many great lessons from my father, not the least of which was that you can fail at what you don’t want, so you might as well take a chance on doing what you love.” 2) Ellen DeGeneres, “Never follow someone else’s path, unless you’re in the woods and you’re lost and you see a path, then by all means you should follow that.” Aquarius: As lots of folks graduate and move on to that next level in life right now, you should take these actions as clues. For this is a good time for you to make some positive changes in your life or take one of those big leaps you’ve always dreamt of. To help, here’s your double dose of wisdom. A) From J.K. Rowling, “It is impossible to live without failing at something, unless you live so cautiously that you might as well not have lived at all—in which case, you fail by default.” And from Oscar Wilde, “We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars.” Pisces: Sometimes Pisces can lack the self-confidence to really go after what you want to do in life. Please make sure this lucky time is not one of them. To help, commence the next great chapter in your life with these lines. 1) From John Green, “Every year, many, many stupid people graduate from college. And if they can do it, so can you.” 2) And from Henry David Thoreau, “Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined.” Aries: Some of Clouds favorite people are Aries. That’s why Clouds would like to remind you that self-doubt is only meant to help motivate you to work harder and believe more. That’s why you new motto comes from Vincent Van Gogh, “If you hear a voice within you say ‘you cannot paint,’ then by all means paint and that voice will be silenced.” Taurus: If you’ve been in need of something new, more challenging and exciting in your life, the Stars are reporting that this is the perfect time to reach for it. They will help to remember these lines. From Thomas Jefferson “If you want something you’ve never had, you must be willing to do something you’ve never done.” And from Mark A. Cooper, “Life has no remote. Get up and change it yourself.”

CONCERT IN THE ROCKS

If you’ve never been, there’s nothing like it. A shot from last Saturday’s Concert in the Rocks at Lone Ranger Canyon in the Alabama Hills.

Councilman Kirk Stapp took the Hogan tack, citing competing priorities and financial obligations. He voted no.

Councilmembers Bill Sauser, John Wentworth and Lynda Salcido were strongly supportive. Sauser said housing isn’t the only important thing on Council’s agenda these days. The health and welfare of those who live here is also important.

Mayor Cleland Hoff was against the proposal. “I don’t think a Sprung [Structure] fits in this town whatsoever,” she said.

She also said there were those who had contacted her to voice opposition to the project but given the political environment, were afraid to come forward at a public meeting.

Hoff said she prioritized growing food before candy, and views the MUF as candy.

Councilman John Wentworth couldn’t help but swallow that baited M&M.

“I’m not serving on a Council that can’t walk and chew gum at the same time,” he declared, while holding up a Council priorities list, created during some unnamed strategy session.

The rink, he said, was on the list.

Hoff suggested that the priorities list may have been determined by Council consensus, but that the MUF had never been a priority of hers.

*Just so folks are reassured. Vanir Construction Management (Fresno) performed an independent analysis of the two construction bids received for the initial project last year which came in around $19 million.

Vanir determined that both bids were legitimate and based upon soaring costs for materials, particularly steel, the Town’s original project design, built today, would cost about $22 million.

On Saturday, May 25, 2019 Jason Alan Bullington, loving husband, passed away at home at the age of 49 after a long battle with cancer. His wife Lena and his friends were by his side.

Jason was born in Los Angeles on October 8, 1969 to Rosalie Gottlieb and Edward Nelson Bullington. In 1986, the family moved to Bridgeport, and Jason attended and graduated from Coleville High School in 1988. He then worked construction for a few years before getting a job at BUMCO (changed the name to Rhino’s in 1993) and continued working there as a bartender and cook on and off for more than 20 years. He learned to butcher meat working several years at Busters Market in Bridgeport.

Making great food has always been Jason’s passion and in April of 2012 he opened his own restaurant, J’s on the Corner, which quickly gained popularity with locals and tourists alike.

After three successful years Jason closed J’s and went back to bartending and cooking. However, having a business of his own always appealed to Jason and in spring of 2017 he bought Albert’s Meat Market and Deli and had worked there up until just a few weeks before his passing.

Jason married Lena Melnik on February 2, 2017 in a small ceremony at the Bridgeport Courthouse.

Jason has always been known for his great sense of humor, hard work, love for baseball (go Yankees!) and amazing knowledge of all things sports. He loved rock music, was a gifted drummer, adored all animals, especially dogs. Jason was kind, funny, selfless. He loved life and fought so hard to overcome his disease before succumbing to it.

Jason is preceded in death by his mom Rosalie and survived by his wife Lena, his three dogs and countless friends.

The family would like to extend special gratitude to doctors, nurses and staff at Gene Upshaw Cancer Center in Truckee where Jason had been receiving treatment for years.

Jason’s celebration of life BBQ will be held on Saturday, June 8th, at 4 p.m. in front of Albert’s in Bridgeport.
